ACADEMIC EDUCATION:

Doctor of Educational Leadership and Policy

This doctoral degree examined leadership, administration and policy within academies of higher learning, particularly within the college and university sector, including types of academic leadership and governance models, ethics in educational leadership, the purpose and the social construction of educational policy within various institutions, research methods, understanding issues of race, class and gender within education and other seminars related to research proposals, construction and defence.

University of British Columbia, 1997-2000

Dissertation Title: Education to Nurture the Soul: An Interpretive Study of a Professional Leadership Institute for Librarians.

Brief Abstract of Dissertation

The purpose of this research was to capture, describe and interpret an adult educational leadership institute that moves learners in an emotional, soulful and spiritual way. Profound transformational learning was revealed through comments such as: This has been one of the most profound experiences of my life; and, those five days were pure magic. These comments from adult learners are the result of experiences at Northern Exposure to Leadership (NEL). The Institute invites senior librarians to serve as mentors and facilitators, and is a five-day, residential Institute held every eighteen months at Emerald Lake Lodge, near Field, British Columbia, Canada.

This research was explored within an adult education framework. It indicated that soul in education is nurtured through: relationships with mentors, peers and self; the creation of a caring community; ceremony, symbol and the sacred; risk; struggle and disclosure; ethics; creativity and imagination; physical environment; residential factors; and the use of a variety of teaching methods with a concentration on experiential learning. The confluence of these factors affects careers and lives of learners on a long-term basis.

Application of Research to St. Thomas More College: These findings are applicable to post - secondary education at the college and university level. Extrapolating these factors, and combing them with my extensive experience in post-secondary levels of education, it is reasonable to argue that the following factors would be well placed at the college level, particularly at STM: relationships with educators, librarians, college support employees, and peer groups; mentoring, collegiality and compassion among colleagues and administrators; fostering a caring college community; ceremony, symbol and the sacred; a sound moral and ethical educational ethos; creativity and imagination; physical environment; engagement with extracurricular activities; and, the use of a variety of teaching methods with some exposure to experiential learning inside and outside of the classroom.

ACADEMIC EDUCATION, con't.:

Master of Library and Information Studies,
ALA Accredited, University of Alberta, 1991

Bachelor of Arts, Sociology, High Honours,
University of Saskatchewan, 1988

SELECTED ADDITIONAL EDUCATION AND SABBATICAL STUDIES:

Sabbatical Studies:

During my sabbatical, 2013-14, I began the curation of a Special Collection and archival collection, which involves extensive research, building a website, and creating an exhibition for the Anais Nin Literary Collection. This collection of books, documents, recordings and memorabilia of authors and scholars such as Nin, Henry Miller, Evelyn Hinz, John Teunissen and others was donated to St. Thomas More College in 2004. I have been granted $17,000.00 from the donor to undertake this project. The project includes the design and creation of a web-based exhibition, the creation of finding aids and a bibliography of holdings, and curation of an exhibition. The donor, Dr. John Teunissen, has also indicated that a part of his estate will be left to the library, to specifically maintain and provide use and access to the collection. This is a very important international collection from a scholar who taught at the University of Saskatchewan.

During my last sabbatical, in 2006-07, I undertook a comparative analysis of Canadian Catholic college libraries which was designed to survey and report upon critical aspects of library services offered by Catholic libraries in Canada. I also met with Jennifer Younger, of the University of Notre Dame, Indiana, and discussed how the Canadian Catholic libraries might contribute to her Catholic portal initiative. I also travelled to the great libraries, churches, historic and artistic sites in 14 countries of Western Europe, covering over 10,000 km in six weeks. I visited the Bodleian Library at Oxford University, the National libraries of Britain, Austria and Spain, the ancient scroll library at Ephesus, the older Vatican library in Rome, and the Canadian Embassy Library in Paris. I had the great fortune of visiting many of the great European churches in London, Cologne, Innsbruck, Vienna, Venice, Paris, Barcelona, which is the home of the Temple of the Sagrada Familia by Gaudi, and St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome. These travels have informed my knowledge of libraries, churches, art, architecture and social history and in doing so, has greatly enhanced my ability to work not only as a trained, but learned librarian. The opportunity to experientially learn about European history has influenced the choices I subsequently made in materials acquisitions, informed my scholarly communication with library users, students, faculty and researchers, and influenced decisions I have made regarding library architecture and aesthetics, especially that of the library renovation at St. Thomas More College library. In this renovation, I was largely responsible for old world renaissance effect by retaining the cathedral barrel vault ceiling and its colouring; choosing the chandeliers; keeping the stacks low to allow light transference; the fireplace; the curved north wall which gave approximately 500 sq. ft. of more floor space and is more aesthetically pleasing; and the large doorways linking the old construction with the new to create a unified whole. This renovation won an award from Heritage Saskatoon in 2017 in the Sensitive Addition category. I was also instrumental in STM receiving a $1,060,000.00 government infrastructure grant.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

St. Thomas More College, University of Saskatchewan, Library Director (Librarian)

Dates: July, 2000 – present
Report to: Dr. Arul Kumaran, Dean, St. Thomas More College
Duties: STM is a Catholic college federated with the University of Saskatchewan. The library collection (57,000 volumes) supports classes taught at STM, and is also a resource for the campus community and the public. On a daily basis, I provide strategic direction, administration, management and leadership for all library services, including reference, information literacy, collection development, acquisitions, cataloguing, special collections, technologies, facilities, staff development, donor relations, and budget management. I supervise library and archival (quasi-unionized) staff, liaise with faculty and serve as a tenured faculty member. I have served as College Equity Advisor on approximately 20 faculty hiring committees, on the Building Committee responsible for College physical planning and renovations, on the Academic Steering and Planning committees, and, as a faculty union treasurer.

Major Achievements within the first six months at STM

- Designed a computer lab/information commons which was opened by the Minister of Education who presented the College with $500,000.00
- Expedited the acquisitions process
- Introduced course-based information literacy instruction
- Assisted to place art within the College from the University Kenderdine Gallery
- Served on Web Committee and assisted to redesign College web-site
- Signed a contract with Scarecrow Press to publish a book on library leadership
- Installed the Faculty Publications Display Case

Subsequent Major Achievements at STM:

- Created a collections policy for, culled, and relocated the Anglin Collection (2001)
- Built Special Collections shelving with cherry wood and glass doors to properly house and showcase the rare book collection (2002)
- Initiated and negotiated an agreement to amalgamate the College online catalogue with that of the U of S at much reduced rates than previous projections; ensures access to over 10 million dollars worth of bibliographic and full text databases, including access to decades of collections growth and a very sophisticated online system that provides seamless use for STM faculty and students (2002)
- Drafted policies for Plagiarism and Records Management for the College
- Initiated and co-hosted an STM Author Reading event (2002)

- Launched the Pristine Copy Collection of STM Authors (2002)
- Actively received the Anais Nin Collection, nurtured donor relations (2004)
- Published On Sibyl's Shoulders: Seeking Soul in Library Leadership (2005)
- Granted Sabbatical leave (2006, 2013)
- Initiated and produce Shannon Library Newsletter (2004, 2007, 2009, 2013, 2014,+)
- Planned and managed the refurbishment of Reading Room flooring with Polymeric Clean Air Technology tiles, and new leather furnishings (2008)
- Published articles, book reviews, and registered copyright library fund raising concept
- Assumed management of STM Archives and engaged Crown Storage to manage documents (2009-10)
- Participated in the Society for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Conference University of Saskatchewan (2010)
- Won Heart of STM Award in recognition for an active commitment and contribution, throughout their career, to students and student life; and for a lifelong dedication to learning (2010-11)
- Awarded St. Thomas More Research SEED Grant, $2,000.00 (2011)
- Served on apr. 20 faculty searches as Equity Advisor (2004-2012)
- Weeded the library collection, 2016
- Assisted to design and renovate the Shannon Library, (2016-17)

Major Donor Relations – Grant Contributions Within the Last Few Years at STM:

- Evelyn and Isabell Burkitt made a donation of $10,000.00 (apr.) to the Library to build the Special Collections book cases. The Burkitts, with whom I visited and nurtured relations, were family friends of the Brockmeyers. Upon their death in 2012, Evelyn and Isabelle Burkitt then willed $275,000.00 to the College to be shared between the Library and Scholarships.
- Nurtured ongoing relations with annual donors.
- Margaret Dutli left in excess of $8,300.00 to the Shannon Library (2012).
- Awarded a total of $37,000.00 to curate the Nin Literary Collection. We have been informed by the donor Dr. Teunissen that he will leave to the STM Library a part of his estate for the use and maintenance of the Nin Literary Collection (2014). Given in honour of his wife, Evelyn Hinz, of Humboldt.
- Toward A 21st Century Research Capacity: Post-Secondary Strategic Infrastructure Fund and St. Thomas More College. Grant Proposal for Post-Secondary Institutions Strategic Investment Fund, April 4, 2016. Granted $1,060,000.00. Prepared and presented with STM Administration President and CFO.

University of Saskatchewan, Head, Archives and Research, Diefenbaker Canada Centre

Department: Diefenbaker Canada Centre

Dates: May, 1999 – May, 2000

Supervisor: Dr. Bruce Shepard

Duties: The Diefenbaker Canada Centre is a unique public facility which explores the country's evolution with Canadians and their visitors. It accomplishes this through the preservation of collections representing the life, interests, government and domestic life of Canada's thirteenth Prime Minister, John G. Diefenbaker. The Centre is a dynamic cultural, educational, and historical attraction which combines an archives, museum, and research centre. It holds the papers, books and memorabilia collected by Diefenbaker during his lifetime, which are stored in highly secured and managed vaults. The Diefenbaker Canada Centre Archives includes over three million documents, 8,000 photographs, multimedia and two major press clipping collections. As Archivist, I was responsible for archival management, confidential document security, conducting research, research assistance, faculty liaison, education of students wishing to learn more about archival research, collection development, acquisitions and cataloguing. I selected, trained and supervised staff, acquired grant funding for STEP students, maintained library databases and the Centre website, and managed Y2K.

PRESENTATIONS, LECTURES, ADDRESSES, etc:

Exposition of Library Based Student Research: Exploring the Ancient and Modern Worlds. This was an exposition in which student project work of death masks, artifacts and project posters was displayed in the Library throughout the year. At the end of the year, faculty (Dr. Mary Ann Beavis, Dr. A. Pomazon, and Dr. T. Greenfield) were invited to speak about their work and their classes. Also, students were invited to share their experiences and information about their projects. It was a fantastic celebration for the Students, in which their work was celebrated in a community forum in the Shannon Library. The event was initiated and hosted by me on March 29, 2019.
